

Apple Island, c. 1928

*And out far away o'er the water's bright sheen
A place of enchantment is there;
A beautiful isle like an emerald green
In its setting of silvery fret-work is seen
A spot so alluring and fair.*

*Green isle of delight! Let me float as before
O'er the blue of the waters so bright;
In my own little barque, with its good, trusty oar,
Let me come once again to thy pebble-strewn shore,
And share in each varied delight.*
